Robbie Antonio
President
Antonio Development

This 31-year-old dynamo founded his firm just three years ago with the goal of creating unique international projects that incorporate unparalleled architectural integrity and brand differentiation. Today, Antonio and Roy Stillman, president of Stillman Development International, are developing The Centurion with legendary architect I.M. Pei. It is the Plaza District's first ground-up residential development in more than 20 years and has achieved the record price per square foot for a ground-up residential building in the area. Antonio is also a managing director and board member of his family's Antonio Organization which develops, markets and manages high-quality commercial and residential properties. Its portfolio of owned, developed, and managed properties is valued close to $2.1 billion in five countries. Antonio is expanding the current development pipeline of $1.55 billion in inventory to $2.2 billion of revenue of new projects.
