

50 UNDER FIFTY

For the second year running, Town&Country presents 50 of the country's most influential people under the age of 50. On this year's list are brilliant, innovative, and dynamic leaders in their chosen fields, gathering business and finance big shots, entrepreneurs, doctors, artists, technology savants, and public servants. Among them are names you may have heard of before, along with a few who deserve more attention, the scions of powerful and respected clans, and some self-made men and women. Blessed with the energy and vibrancy of youth, these are the people who have made significant efforts in nation building, changing the way we live, think, spend, do business, and serve the community.

BY PIERRE A. CALASANZ

BUILDERS' GUILD
From left: Marco, Carlo, Jigger, and Robbie Antonio each have a significant role in Century Properties, founded by their father Ambassador Jose Antonio. With a recent spike in company profits comes more good news: the family fortune increased to around $300 million this year.

PHOTOGRAPH BY DIX PEREZ. GROOMING BY YCIAR CASTILLO. PHOTOGRAPHED AT THE TRUMP TOWER MODEL UNIT

THE ANTONIO BROTHERS

The bright, young, and successful Antonio brothers, Jigger, Marco, Robbie, and Carlo, have plenty to smile about these days, as their company Century Properties recently announced a 91 percent increase in income for the first half of 2012. Founded by their father in 1986, the company is behind the ultra-luxe developments Knightsbridge, Trump Tower, and Acqua Residences. The brothers—all educated at top universities in the U.S.—share top executive duties at the firm: Jigger and Marco are listed as co-chief operating officers, Robbie is the managing director, while Carlo, the youngest, is the chief finance officer.

